

Digital and Soft Skills for the 21st Century

The action "Digital and Soft Skills for the 21st Century" is addressed to high school students and aims to assist them in making more informed decisions regarding their career path. Employees of PwC Greece take on the role of mentors and inform students about the importance of digital and soft skills and how to acquire them. In addition, in the framework of the action, they will discuss the practical application of horizontal and soft skills in the modern labour market by exploring the example of two professions, the auditor and the business consultant.

The action is implemented through live group sessions, in the context of which students all over Greece have the opportunity to converse with mentors and get inspired through their knowledge and experience. The action also includes the use of a micro-mentoring mobile app, where students will be able to ask more targeted questions and receive answers from the mentors, thus developing in practice their soft and digital skills.

The action is implemented with the support of PwC Greece for the school year 2023-2024.
